

JUDGE WARDELL STOLE A RACE.

Jesse Mathews Rode Rings Around Willie Dale in the Third Race at the Fair Grounds.

JOCKEY POWELL SUSPENDED.

Jockey Tally's Good Ride on Tick-fu—Fireside Pulled Up Late and Will Probably Be Banned from the Turf.

Nature beamed her brightest on the Fair Grounds yesterday. The gentle warmth of a shining sun and the light breeze which followed, as the sun course made the weather quite comfortable. As the race track patrons did not see the gates after the last race had ended the decorations on the amphitheater and the school children's outfit today, they each and every one hoped that the weather conditions for today may be exactly the same as yesterday. At the same time a nervous feeling went forth for the St. Louis Fair Association in offering such a beautiful playground for a day's outing to the coming generation of the Main City.

The racing program was a rather ordinary one, and the only really exciting feature in connection with the day's race was when Judge Wardell stole a mile on Theory at the finish of the third race.

The day's sport opened with a half-mile dash for two-year-old mares. Eleven cheap year-olds scampered away from the starting post for the winner, with Jimmy Grimm's Lucy in the lead. Sebas took up the running after a furlong and soon traveled and maintained the lead until well in the stretch, when the favorite, Lucy, again overhauled Jim. Another race, in the run, was a dead heat, and a half-mile dash for a mile and a half. Adaline came with a rush in the last jumps and secured the place by a nose from Sebas.

John Huffman's Harry was selected as a real good thing for the second race, and led at 5 feet. The horse, however, had a hard time in the lead. Harry was so small that in all probability the weight stopped him. Mr. Hartman's Amherst had a rather easy task in winning this race by a length and a half from Sophie S., with Pirates manager a good third.

The story of the third race is a sad one for theory, who had been the leader in the saddle for most of the race, and was beaten in the final stretch by Judge Wardell.

The fourth race, a mile and upward, was won by the little colt, and the fifth race, a mile and upward, was won by the little gelding, Lucy.
